

Break Between France and Great Britain Limited to Question of Reparations

Co-Operation Assured on Near East and Other Great Issues of Day.

PREMIERS AGAIN CONFER

M. Poincaré and Bonar Law met today for discussion of the question of reparations. The French premier called on the British prime minister and the two talked together for a half hour, discussing the Near Eastern and Middle Eastern situation and the question of reparations.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 5.—Although divided by the German reparations issue on which Great Britain and France split yesterday, Premier Poincaré and Prime Minister Bonar Law met today for discussion of the question of reparations. The French premier called on the British prime minister and the two talked together for a half hour, discussing the Near Eastern and Middle Eastern situation and the question of reparations.

The two ministers had another 20-minute talk on the platform at the railway station before the train left with the British delegation bound for London on board. Mr. Bonar Law asked Mr. Poincaré to keep him informed each day of every move and the French premier promised to do so. Mr. Bonar Law told his French colleague he hoped with all his heart that the Entente would not only continue but be fortified.

When the British minister made some allusion to what had happened at the Allied conference, Mr. Poincaré remarked that French opinion was entirely wrapped up in the idea of maintaining the Entente. Mr. Bonar Law explained again that British public opinion was opposed to any measure that would disturb the economic life of Europe.

JARVIS, Jan. 5.—The Alliance between France, Great Britain, Italy and Belgium fell apart yesterday after the treatment of German reparations. The Latin powers, France, Italy and Belgium, remain loosely grouped together on that subject while England, although separating from them, expects to cooperate, especially with France, on other questions.

The council of the premiers, which had been in progress here since January 2, ended with friendly words. Marquis de La Torretta, representing Italy, said:

"The Italian delegation sincerely regrets to see that the efforts it made to reach an accord among the Allies on such a grave question have not been crowned with success. The Italian delegation has interposed the thought of its own government in the conviction that the disagreement among the Allies has not influenced the cordial sentiments of friendship so long existing and expressed the hope that eventually even on this difficult question there will be reconsideration and agreement."

Premier Mussolini turned the scale decisively against the British plan. The Italian delegates had reserved their final declaration until yesterday and during the morning it appeared that Mr. Bonar Law's proposal with slight modifications. A telegram received from Rome just before the conference opened instructed them to vote for the French plan, as against the British in case they should find it useless to push their own plan. This strengthened France and Belgium and Great Britain stood alone.

PREVENTION OF ACCIDENT CONTEST ON WEST PENN

System Separated Into Five Divisions For Purpose of Competition For Cup.

In connection with the establishment of the new safety department, in charge of Harry Restowski, the West Penn System has inaugurated an accident prevention contest which, beginning January 1, will continue throughout the year. Employees have been divided into five divisions and the winner will be decided by a method evolved to determine the reduction in lost time from accidents.

The five divisions of employees are the commercial, mining, power and railway, in Pennsylvania, and the Wheeling Traction Division. The commercial division will include all employees who report to G. M. Gadsby, the Connellsville garage force, and all employees in the treasury, accounting and general auditing departments. The mining division will include all persons reporting to Mr. Bennett through R. C. Beerbower. The power division will include all employees reporting to J. S. Jenks and the railway division will be those reporting to Harry L. Mitchell. The Wheeling Traction Division reports to Mr. Billings.

Leaders have been named for each group. B. C. Fair will head the commercial, R. C. Beerbower the mining, A. N. Cartwright, power, W. S. Anderson the railways, and M. L. Cowan the Wheeling.

The contest will be based on the reduction in lost time rates with the rate from November 1, 1931, to November 1, 1932, as a basis. A lost time case will be one in which an employee loses a day or turn over than the one on which he is working when injured. Accident rates shall be the number of lost time accidents per 100 employees per month.

The winning division will be presented with a silver loving cup and each group making up the division will receive a photographic reproduction of the cup. The group leading in each division will receive a silk banner. Each group having no lost time accidents during the year will receive an appropriate banner.

It is expected that the great stress being laid on safety by the West Penn System will, to a large extent, reduce the number of preventable accidents.

FURNACE TO BE ADDED

Y., manufacturers of the metal caps and closing machines used in sealing the containers which are manufactured here. Rosewood, Fla., Scene of Terrific Battle Between Whites and Blacks.

NEGROES IN BARRICADE

All-Night Exchange of Shots Taken. Place Between Hand of Blacks and Mob of Several Hundred Whites; Thousands Gather at the Scene.

By Associated Press.

OTTAWA, Jan. 5.—Two white men, two negro women and one negro man are known to be dead while it is believed there are many other casualties as a result of race trouble last night and today at Rosewood, 12 miles from here. With the exception of three buildings the entire village was burned by a mob shortly after daybreak, according to available reports here.

A party of citizens of Sumner went to Rosewood late last night to investigate reports that two negroes, caught in connection with an attack on a white woman, were concealed there. Upon the approach of the party, negroes without warning opened fire, killing outright two whites and wounding four, one probably fatally.

If later developed 21 heavily armed negroes were in the house and citizens immediately established a cordon around it and opened fire. At 4 o'clock this morning, according to reports here, the ammunition of the attackers became exhausted and the departure of many for fresh supplies gave the negroes an opportunity to escape. Their departure was discovered at daylight.

The vacated house contained two dead negro women and a negro man. Immediately afterwards, according to word received from the scene, the mob began firing the buildings in the village and every structure except the grocery store, the residence of the grocer and that of another white man, was destroyed. White the village was in flames, it is said, members of the mob fired on negroes fleeing from their homes. The result was not known here.

ROSEWOOD, Fla., Jan. 5.—Hundreds of citizens early today were preparing to renew their efforts to smash the barricade behind which 25 or more heavily armed negroes were making a stand in a small negro hut. Several whites men were known to be dead, three wounded and a score or more negroes were believed slain in fighting last night.

Disputed posesssions and citizens said to number in the thousands were pouring into the village. All night long citizens surrounding the hut kept up a heavy fire and at intervals volleys of lead were fired from behind the barricade. Among the white men killed were Harry Andrews and Boley Wilkerson, whose bodies lay all night where they fell. No one would venture to rescue them so hot was the fire behind the barricade. Andrews leaves a wife and three children and Wilkerson a wife and five children.

Fighting ceased shortly before 8 o'clock. The shooting could be heard at Sumner, two miles away. The bodies of Andrews and Wilkerson were recovered shortly after 8 o'clock. Volunteers entered the yard under the guns of the negroes and removed them without being fired upon. They were taken to Sumner. Bodies of armed men continued to pass through the town enroute to the scene.

Westmoreland County Balance Is $455,450.42

GREENSBURG, Jan. 5.—The "financial thermometer" in the office of County Controller Weber A. Arter at the courthouse indicates that there was a general fund in favor of Westmoreland county, January 1, 1928, to the amount of $455,450.42. At the close of business of the county, January 2, 1928, the amount of money of the general fund was $569,713.44. The figures show that the county had a much larger sum of "ready money" this year than one year ago.

One of the interesting items revealed in the books of the controller's office is that during the past year the sum of $797,422.66 was received in the form of general and state taxes. The county paid out during the year on account of road taxes the sum of $676,554.45, while on the building tax for the payment of bonding for the building of the courthouse was $149,707.40. This sum was paid in addition to other amounts from other sources. The controller's reports show the following sums of money received and paid out during the past year of the other county offices:

Recorder of deeds: Received $25-883.89; paid out $19,602.
Register of wills: Received, $16-$19.03; paid out, $13,075.50.
District attorney's office, (not including salaries of the assistant district attorneys): Received, $23,429;
paid out, $3,196.60.
Clerk of courts: Received, $12,836-
63; paid out, $8,583.64.
Prothonotary: Received, $22,606.54;
paid out, $14,088.67.
Sheriff: Received, $33,472.51; paid
out, $19,518.83.
Coroner: Received, $7,702.07; paid
out, $8,548.47.
The county home spent last year,
according to the controller's figures, $204,444.67.

FRIDAY, EVENING, JAN. 5, 1923.

THE PRESIDENT'S COURAGE.

It must be conceded, even by his most bitter and partisan critics, that President Harding has the quality of courage in high degree and that he does not hesitate to exercise it when the situations by which he is confronted require decisive action.

His veto of the Bursum Pension Bill is the most recent of several occasions when he has thus acted and, as he conscientiously believes, in the public interest.

This measure failed to receive executive approval for reasons President Harding has set forth so frankly and clearly that they cannot be misunderstood. They ought also to appeal with equal force to every person who takes the time to become informed as to the scope, intent and objectionable character of the measure.

The bill provides that after June 27, 1915, "any marriage or cohabitation for two years prior to a Civil War veteran's death" shall make the widow the beneficiary of a pension of $50 per month for the remainder of her life. This would extend for 10 years the marriage period as provided by existing pension laws and afford women with long expectancy of life an opportunity to become the wives of veterans who, at most, have but a few more years to live, and thereby add to the pension rolls persons who had no shadow of right, except that conferred by law, to legislative aid.

These "loose provisions" for pensioning widows, as the President terms them, alone make it so objectionable that he was not at all backward in stating his reasons for withholding his approval. One very cogent reason is that the proposed act would require an additional expenditure of $108,000,000 annually, a fact which leads the President to predict that "with such a precedent established the ultimate pension outlay in the half century before us will exceed $500,000,000."

"The act," says President Harding, "makes no pretense of new considerations for the needy or dependent, no new generosity for the veteran wards of the nation; it is an outright bestowal upon the government's pension rolls, with a heedlessness for the government's financial problems which is a discouragement to every effort to reduce expenditures and thereby relieve the federal burdens of taxation."

It has long been popularly supposed that vetoing pension legislation was one thing a president dare not do, because of the political odium of what would be construed as an act of unfriendliness toward old soldiers, no matter what were the provisions of the unapproved bill.

In the case of the Bursum bill, which is not in reality a soldiers' pension measure but a generous bestowal on women who in no sense shared with the veterans the hardships and sacrifices of the war, old soldiers will themselves recognize that it goes far beyond the purpose and intent of the well-known policy of the government to compensate liberally the actual and real defenders of the nation. They will, therefore, concur with, rather than place blame upon, President Harding in the conclusion which he courageously stated in these words:

"Frankly I do not recognize any public obligation to pension women who now, nearly 60 years after the Civil War, become the wives of veterans of that war."

The year just closed had its share of prosperity for the First Baptist Church, for its members, as the raising of $12,000 attests.

Having burned up considerable money in buying Christmas trees, the process will be completed, and wise precautions taken to prevent the spreading of new plant pests, by burning the trees.

No doubt Mr. Director Hays is beginning to long for the quiet and peaceful days when he was director of the deadfiles of the Republican party of big boss of the Post Office Department.

If you want to keep peace with the latest fads why not adopt the formula, "day by day, in every way, I am going to be a better and better citizen."

If people in the homes do their full duty to the public and their neighbors there is no reason why 1923's record of contagious diseases in the city shall not be better than that of 1922.

The report of Coroner Baum for 1922 assumed the proportions and gruesomeness of the casualty lists in 1917-18.

In spite of the strike the coke trade of the Connelleville region struck a pretty fair stride toward recovery to normal.

If public sentiment buckles up tight enough there will be no danger of "Patty" coming back.

Bootleggers' Christmas Toll

The American Issue.

New York City reports eight deaths resulting from the drinking of poison liquor. Chicago reports a smaller number. From other cities also come reports of varying numbers of deaths of victims of bootleggers.

The liquor interests' publicity agents will undoubtedly make much of this holiday season's poison liquor death toll and endeavor to fix the full responsibility upon the Prohibition law.

It is well to remember that it is not the prohibition law that is responsible, but the violation of that law.

The repeated warnings that have been sent out by the prohibition enforcement department of the death-dealing quality of bootleg booze now on the market leaves no chance for the friends of these victims to plead ignorance on their behalf. The government has gone to the trouble and expense of analyzing hundreds and thousands of samples of bootleg booze and has given wide publicity to the result of its findings. The result has always been the same. About 99 out of every hundred samples assay a percentage of wood alcohol or some other deadly poison.

There is no reason why everyone should not be thoroughly acquainted with the fact that he who samples the bootleg product is flirting with the undertaker. Pure bonded liquor has practically disappeared from the market as a result of the tightening of the present regulations governing withdrawals.

There is no guarantee that smuggled liquor is what its labels claim for it.

That erstwhile drinkers are beginning to heed the warnings sounded by the government against bootleg booze is evident in the marked decrease in the number of deaths from poison liquor this Christmas season as compared with last.

In fact the bootleggers themselves, because of the quality of their product, are providing a valuable ally to the prohibitionists.

Gentle Ways of the "Ladies"

Webster Eagle.

"The Ladies' Invisible Eye" is the name of the latest association for the violent regulation of other people's business in Texas. Four gentle members of this genteel organization took a housewife and mother out into the woods and beat her nearly to death. The woman had not reared her daughter in accordance with the ideas of the "ladies" who beat her up.

This organization has possibilities. It is the Ku Klux Klan. If the "ladies" do not like the clothes worn by some woman of their set, for instance, they might take her out and whip her, or cut her head off with a corn knife. If some woman is dressed in a little better looking than the chief cyphers of the Invisible Eye, she could be disgraced by night-shirt brigades of "ladies." A rival in love or in society could be disposed of handsomely by the new invisible empire of the gentler sex.

When Styles are Wicked, Atlanta Constitution.

Styles are wicked when you like them on the other man's wife better than you like them on your own.

High Prices Are Ahead.

Since 1918 prices have dropped ten times and gone up eleven.

Just Folks

Roger A. Guest.

WEATHER-PROOF.

I am no grinning optimist that laughs at every grief and sorrow; life sends us burdens now and then that are most difficult to bear. My failures take me a little away and my successes take me a little closer. And disappointment comes to me. I frequently am known to kick. I grumble when I'm justified and when fate hurts me I complain. But I'm not one who sits and scowls and mopes about a little rain.

Some days there are which make me feel that I take the joy right out of life. I'll raise a good old-fashioned gravel to be. But this day, it has to be a real gravel. Some trouble that I couldn't stop in spite of all that I could do. Over broken hope and ruined plans and shattered visions. I'll complain. But I'll not sob and sigh and scowl about a day or two of rain.

I'll take the weather as it comes, and I'll not let it ruin my day. And, though it's raining cats and dogs, I'll never have a word to say. I'll save my scowls and frowns and kicks for honest hurts and honest woes.

And I'll not go moping round the world because it rains or hails or snows. For when at last I go above and tell my earthly fate news. I'll have to let the angels know. I'll have to let the angels know. I'll have to let the angels know. (Copyright, 1922, by Roger A. Guest.)

THE DINING ROOM FURNISHED IN OAK

The use of a small amount of vivid color to relieve an otherwise neutral color scheme is one of the cleverest effects achieved by the modern decorator. Take, for example, this dining room, furnished in oak, with the new silver-gray rubbed finish. A lovely wicker tray, decorated with orange poppies on a black background hangs over the buffet. Two urns of red descent glass, shading from pale yellow to deep orange, decorate the buffet top. The draperies are of gray shantung, lined with orange. Japanese grass cloth in a gray shade, with just a suggestion of orange, covers the walls, and a re-created rug of gray completes the picture.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

Learning to Walk Gracefully. I wanted my little girl to be able to walk gracefully. A teacher of gymnastics told me to have her walk while balancing something on her head. So I made a game of it, telling her how in lands far away the women, and even the little girls, carried their shopping baskets on their heads. The idea appealed to her and I suggested that she try walking that way. So I filled a small sewing basket with some of her toys and she has great fun walking about the room, trying to see how far she can go without spilling anything. The Best None Too Good

"After many years of stomach suffering I have at last found a medicine for that trouble. But believe me it was a timely find. I couldn't have lasted a great while longer. My stomach would blot with gas like a barrel and the colics got to be awful. Medicine didn't help much until I got hold of Mary's Wonderful Remedy, which did the trick. I am telling everyone about it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Telltale Symptoms of Woman's Ills. Every woman who suffers from backache, headaches, dragging-down pains, nervousness, irregularity, displacements, irritability, or dizziness should recognize in such symptoms some derangement of her system which should have attention before some more serious ailment develops. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been pre-eminently successful in overcoming such conditions, and it is now recognized everywhere as the standard remedy for woman's ills.—Advertisement.

BLAME TONSILS FOR FIZZLE

Failure of Catcher Garrity to Play His Usual Good Game Caused Senators' Poor Showing.

One of the chief reasons for the failure of the Washington team make a better showing in the American league last season was the failure of Catcher Eddie Garrity to play his usual brilliant game. An attack of neuritis in the right shoulder caused Garrity to suffer with a lame arm all summer, which naturally affected his play in other departments aside from mere throwing. Recently he underwent an operation for his tonsils which the doctors claim will eliminate the neuritis and restore the arm to old-time form.

THE SOISSON.

"JUST TONY," the leading attraction today at this theatre, features Tom Mix, popular star. "Tony" has broken all house records for attendance during its run. The story which is a screen adaptation of Max Brand's well known novel, "Alcatraz," has won the admiration of both Mix and his intelligent horse. This new vehicle for the stalwart, stimulating star will prove entertainment of the highest order. For many years it has been Mix's most arduous endeavor to feature his springy steed, "Tony," in a stunts, and Mr. Fox has finally consented. So Tom went about his performance in front of a camera with an enthusiasm born of an inspiration for love of the animal which has accompanied him through much of his life. "That Tom is assured of success in his new venture is certain. Picture Star "Just Tony" will not make the star fall short of his "never made a failure" slogan. And once again he has clinched his reputation as a versatile star with the brand new role he plays—a role that besides being pleasing and refreshing, is a most difficult one to enact.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"GUN-SHY," with Franklyn Farnum in the stellar role, is being shown at this theatre as the feature picture. "Gun-Shy" is the story of the adventures of two strangers in the almost deserted town of Los Palos. One bearing the unmistakable markings of a typical Easterner; the other mysteriously hard to label. The former is taken for a U. S. marshal, sent to Los Palos to stop the raids which have been going on in the town, driving the people away. He is afraid of his very shadow and only avails the first opportunity to leave town. The mysterious stranger soon introduces himself to the Easterner as Bill Williams, the real U. S. Marshal, and after an attempt on his life the Easterner, takes heart, braves the gang leader and aids in bringing the raiders to justice. The entire picture was filmed in the picturesque Sanat Monica Mountains, where no more ideal locale can be found. Cliffs, canyons, caves, steep and tortuous with high, frowning peaks in the background. You will see the most thrilling rides over filmed, up and down canyons and perpendicular cliffs, seemingly impossible. On one occasion when the director requested Mr. Farnum to ride his horse down the side of the cliff, he refused at first, thinking it a physical impossibility. The picture will also be shown tomorrow.

THE ORPHEUM.

"BURNING SANDS," to be shown at this theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, is an appealing story of the Sahara desert. Soft nights on the desert, the gay life of Cairo, dark skins and white, love and intrigue, magic in "Burning Sands." It has the atmosphere and charm of "The Sheikh" which was Mr. Melford's creation for the screen, but

An entirely new set of characters and situations. For "Burning Sands," which was adapted by Olga Printzlau from Arthur Welgall's story. Mr. Melford selected a large cast drawn from the best acting talent in London. Miss Hawley, who plays the principal feminine role of Mariel will be remembered for her starring appearances in "Bobbed Hair," "Her Face Value," and "The Truthful Lie." She recently gave a most sympathetic interpretation of a "younger sister" to Dorothy Dillion in Mr. Melford's preceding production, "The Woman Who Walked Alone." Milton Sills, cast as Daniel Lane, has been in several George Melford productions, including "Behold My Wife," "The Faithful Heart," and "The Woman Who Walked Alone." Besides these, he was leading man with Betty Compton and Gloria Swanson in the William C. de Mille production of "Miss Lulu Bett." The story deals with the love of a young English woman of the nobility for a hermit of the Sahara desert. He treats her coldly, but she persists in her effort to win him and after a series of highly dramatic incidents, in which romance and tragedy are mingled, succeeds.

THE ORPHEUM.

"SOUTH OF SOVA," showing today at this theatre, presents Mary Miles Minter in a delightful role. Phyllis Latimer goes to the South Sea Islands to rejoin her husband whom she had married three years previously on the eve of his sailing. She finds him a drunken degenerate and after a few weeks of heart-broken efforts to help him brace up when his only desire is to drag her down to his level, she runs away, and goes to a neighboring island, where she poses as Pauline Leonard, the ward of John Webster, its owner. Phyllis has not Pauline on shipboard and knows enough about her to impersonate her successfully to the man who has never seen his ward. Her husband hatches a spiteful uprising against Webster, who lives Hindoo labor instead of native labor, and findings Phyllis on Webster's island as secretary, drags her home with him and gives her to the natives for a human sacrifice. Webster and government police arrive in time to save Phyllis from the savages. Latimer is killed in the riot and Phyllis and Webster confess their love for each other.

A 16th century idea about women in the home

"The most useful and honorable science for the mother of a family is that of domestic economy—that will either ruin or save an establishment." So wrote Montaigne, a famous Frenchman of the 16th Century. He was one of the few who then understood the real importance of woman's work.

But to-day general recognition is given to the business importance of careful household management. For we know that, to-day, women control most of the money spent in American homes.

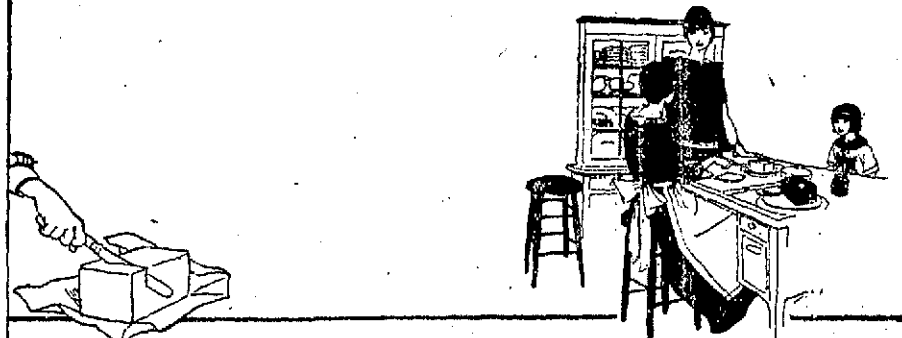

How wisely they spend is shown by their quick acceptance of any new home economy; a new home saving, for example, like Brednut—delicious new spread for bread.

You will not be surprised that Brednut makes so delicious a spread for bread, rolls and biscuits when you learn that it is produced from pasteurized milk and rich tropical nuts.

Pasteurized milk! Tropical nuts! A delicious new home economy!

Time and again husbands have told us that they detect no "difference," except in the saving effected. It will be a real pleasure to see your children enjoy a kind of food whose value and digestibility are commended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Fresh flavored Brednut comes to you uncolored—a pure white. When you buy, your grocer will give you a wholesome vegetable material which will quickly color your Brednut to a rich golden yellow.

City League Will Be Organized Tonight

Basketball Association Will Begin to Function at Once.

FRAT TEAM TO PRACTICE

The Connelville City Basketball League will probably organize at a meeting to be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Unity Fraternity club rooms in North Pittsburg street. The managers of teams in the league will either be present themselves this evening or have a representative there. Absentees will hardly be considered interested in the proposition this year.

Just what teams will go to make up the personnel of the league is not exactly known as it is desired to cut the number of contestants to six. Two of the teams of last year will not be represented, they being St. Vincent's of Leisnering and Snyder's of this city. The St. Vincent club has entered the Uniontown City League and the other team has not been organized. The Connelville Firemen are interested in entering the league race and will be represented at the meeting this evening.

HIGH SCHOOL OPENS LEAGUE SEASON AT BRADDOCK TONIGHT

The Connelville High School basketball team will play at Braddock this evening in the opening game of the W. P. I. A. League. The Cokers are anxious to "get the jump" by winning the first game but even one defeat will hardly hurt the chances of any team in the league this season. The Cokers are playing in Section three.

Next week Latrobe, also in the league, will be here for the first home contest of any consequence. Then it will be that the Coker fans will get the opportunity to review their own warriors pitted against a worthwhile opponent.

The Connelville team had their final practice game yesterday, afternoon. The team looked good but the entire second squad will be taken to Braddock tonight in event substitutes are needed.

The Unity Fraternity basketball team will hold its first practice tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the State Armory. This team will work out each Friday evening on the armory floor between the hours of 7:30 o'clock and 9:30 o'clock. It will be the first opportunity of the Fraternity to see just what material is available this year. The team presents rather a creditable front.

The St. Vincent Junior basketball team has been organized at Leisnering No. 1. The management is anxious to arrange games with good teams in the 15-17 year old class at Connelville, Treater, Vanderbolt, Dickerson Run, Dawson, Dunbar and Leisnering No. 3. For games write to Manager Ernest Burket, Leisnering No. 1, or call the Leisnering post-office between the hours of 12:30 and 1 p. m., or between 7 and 9 o'clock in the evening.

Getting Rid of a Stubborn Cough is Child's Play Now

Make the Medicine Yourself at Home It's Cheap—But You Can't Beat It.

If you want to take care of that bad, hacking cough and do it in a few hours, better get one ounce of Parmit (double strength) and mix a half pint at home.

You can do this in two minutes by adding a little sugar and enough water to fill a half pint bottle.

You'll travel the world over before you get a medicine that will act so quickly and gently on the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. It holds the inflammation, the tickling sensation stops with the first spoonful, the heavy breathing goes and clean membranes, free from irritation and mucus follow.

For Catarrhal conditions such as mucus droppings, clogged nostrils and watery eyes, it won't disappoint—ask for Parmit (double strength). Speak plainly so that the druggist will know exactly what you want—Advertisement.

Deadlock Must Be Broken Or Europe Will Collapse

A situation fraught with inconceivable menace to Europe and the rest of the world is rapidly approaching the final crisis, all the dispatches from Europe agree. Certain officials do not hesitate to say that the Entente will end if France takes military measures before the conclusion of the discussions in the Preliminary Conference at Paris.

From the administration at Washington comes the statement quoted in the New York Herald that the reparations question is at the root of financial trouble in Europe. In addition, this government has intimated that until the reparations are settled on a reasonable basis, it is idle to expect that any aid the United States desires to extend can be available. And American newspapers hold that the deadlock on reparations is a big obstacle to the resumption of prosperity here, and hence affects every one of us.

What, then, is a "reasonable basis" for reparations and why all the difference of opinion even among former allies? That some impatient Americans appear tired of hearing about the matter, has been evident for three years, but that we need to gain some comprehensive view of the facts is more and more obvious. Remarks like "Why don't they all get back on the job?" or "If they'd use a pick and shovel more and a typewriter and a megaphone less, we'd feel more like canceling debts," may express the view of much of our press comment, but do not help the problem.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week presents France's claims. It shows the actual damage which France suffered by the war; what France has done since the armistice to help herself; how much Germany has paid in reparations. The information in this article was obtained by the editor of THE LITERARY DIGEST in Paris from the French Government and French press-reports, supplemented by information supplied by the American Committee for Devastated France, and from the French Consulate in New York. It is of the most definite and authoritative character obtainable and must be considered if one would understand the reparations question which is the core of all the conferences, negotiations, and disputes now agitating Europe and America. The article is profusely illustrated with half-tone photographs, charts, and maps. Other new-features in the January 6th DIGEST are:—

Coke Review 1922; Output 5,675,000 Tons; Gross Value $40,576,250

Increase of 2,102,580 Tons in Production and $26,036,511 in Market Returns, Despite the Handicaps of a Long and Stubborn Sympathy Strike by Workers.

From The Weekly Courier.

Overcoming all the drawbacks incident to the first general strike of the mine and coke yards workers in 23 years, and in spite of all the obstacles the market placed in the way of plant operation over a period of seven months out of 12, the Connellsville region made and marketed 5,675,000 tons of coke during 1922. This was a gain of 2,102,580 tons, or 58.5 per cent, over 1921, and within 5,075,000 tons, or 47 per cent, of the output in 1920.

The average realized price having been $7.15 per net ton, the year's business yielded a gross revenue of $40,576,250, a gain of $26,036,511, or 179 per cent, over the year immediately preceding.

Remarkable as was the increase in output, when all the circumstances connected with the year's operation are taken into account, the increase in value of product stands out even more conspicuously, 1922 being one of three years in the life of the region when the gain in revenue from one year to the next succeeding has equalled or exceeded $40,000,000. In 1917 the market value was $11,288,530, or $55,520,000 greater than in 1916. In 1920, with a production practically the same as in 1921, the value increased by $41,020,888 from $48,198,509 in the latter to $89,225,580 in the former year.

As serving further to show the enhancement of value of the region's product, the increase in revenue from 1922's sales was itself almost as large as the gross receipts in 1914 when almost three times as much coke was produced and the average price only $2.90.

Taking the years 1895-1920, both inclusive, 1922's output averaged less than 30 per cent, but with that, the 1922 figure is more instructive and more significant because in that year the trade was subjected to a period of depression unprecedented in the history of the industry, both as to its severity and its length. This result was due to the fact that in 1921 the coke output in the Connellsville region had fallen to its lowest point in 35 years. Before the region had, either time or opportunity to recuperate from the effects of the greatest depression in its history, it had to meet an attack from another quarter, which tested its powers of resistance as thoroughly as the earlier siege which it had undergone had tested its powers of endurance.

That it so successfully withstood the quickly successive onsets of an unparalleled depression and a labor strike, and in the close of 1922 was firmly on its feet and facing the future with courage, confidence and hopefulness, must be accepted as proof that the resilient coke industry of the Connellsville region has lost none of its vitality or resourcefulness, however much it may have dropped behind in the race for tonnage supremacy in the manufacture of metallurgical fuel.

Production and Shipments

Followed the Trend in 1921 but Closed Year Well Above 1920 Average

The course of production and shipments of coke during 1922 followed generally the trend in 1921, having been heavier in the opening and closing months of both years. In 1922, however, the output was more uniform throughout the year. The lower Connellsville district, where the suspension of operation was the most complete and lasted longest, fell still further behind than in 1921 in the matter of producing its share. In 1921 it made 41.2 per cent, as compared with 38.3 by the Connellsville district. Last year the disparity became much more pronounced, the proportions being 39.1 for the Lower Connellsville and 69.9 per cent by the Connellsville district.

In terms of tonnage production by the respective districts during 1922 by quarters in net tons was as follows:

Quarter	Lower Conn.	Upper Conn.	Total
1st	1,787,012	1,125,025	2,912,037
2nd	1,770,281	1,212,000	2,982,281
3rd	1,907,281	1,068,930	2,976,211
4th	1,488,560	1,148,810	2,637,370
Totals	6,953,134	4,554,865	11,508,000

The merchant interests being the hardest hit by the strike their percentage of production became still lower. In 1921 they had 38.3 per cent to their credit as against 61.8 to the credit of the furnace producers. Because of their greater loss incident to the strike the merchants' percentage fell to 31 and that the furnace operators maximum gains of the resumption period were 13,340 tons, September 30, and 14,369 tons week of October 14.

At no time while the strike was on did production reach by 35,000 tons the low point, 18,400 tons, registered during the industrial depression of the preceding year. After the turn in the tide of the strike's effects came in the week of May 13 weekly production kept from 100 to 150 per cent above the same weeks in 1921 until, in the week ended October 28, it attained 159,750 tons, or 8,000 tons greater than it had been at the inauguration of the strike. This proved conclusively that the strike, insofar as it had been a factor in retarding production, was over. That its effects had not been completely counteracted earlier was due more to the railroad strike than to the persistence with which many workers in the region refrained from taking advantage of the opportunities to take their places in the mines. There was a shortage of cars to receive coke than there was of men to make it, although many operations continued to be short of a full complement of men.

After the region had been restored to better than the pre-strike basis of operation production moved up gradually to higher levels than had been reached since before the depression of 1921 began to place upon operators the burden of applying curtailment methods week after week. By December the 200,000 tons weekly mark had been passed and, from thence until the close of the year the weekly output, even when several days of cold weather prevailed and the Christmas holiday came without the usual precautions being taken against the slump which had heretofore followed if production held up to the new high level.

The high-water mark of the year was reached during the week of December 16 when 208,510 tons were produced. Contrasted with the 52,200 tons made in the week of May 6, there had been a gain of 156,310 tons, or 299 per cent, during the seven months following the high tide of effort which had been made to reduce fuel production to a state of complete paralysis. Truly the region had demonstrated its ability to withstand the onslaught of 1922, it had shown that it had the ability to "come back" after the winter "freeze" of its recent solar plexus blows when the post-war depression reduced it to about six per cent operation.

Stock coke on the yards on January 3 was estimated at 33,000 tons. In short tons and by quarters during 1922 was as follows:

Quarter	Net	Gross	Total
1st	1,510,777	818,260	2,329,037

Distribution

Of Production Between Oven Interests And the Region's Districts.

One noticeable effect of the strike was reflected in the proportions of coke made in the two districts and by the two operating interests during the year. The Lower Connellsville district, where the suspension of operation was the most complete and lasted longest, fell still further behind than in 1921 in the matter of producing its share. In 1921 it made 41.2 per cent, as compared with 38.3 by the Connellsville district. Last year the disparity became much more pronounced, the proportions being 39.1 for the Lower Connellsville and 69.9 per cent by the Connellsville district.

Operating Conditions

Not Unusual Except for Difficulties Incident to the Strike.

Except for the difficulties, hindrances and disorganizations incident to coke-making during the prevalence of a partially effective strike, operating conditions were about as usual during 1922. The first quarter of the year was without very marked features except until the near approach of the time set for the national coal strike. The year began without any appreciable increase in demand and with ovens operating on a four-day schedule. By the middle of January the furnace ovens speeded up a trifle, but for the merchants the trade had not even later in the month, taken the expected turn for the better. In truth, continued speculation as to the time and extent of a reduction in freight rates had the effect of lessening instead of augmenting demand. During the last week of the month the increasing certainty of a coal strike created a little activity which the merchants speeded up operations by adding more ovens and running on a full six-day schedule.

When the sympathy strike broke on April 1 there were 11,564 ovens in blast, 7,914 at furnace and 4,050 at merchant plants. Despite the fact that the first few days of the walk-out stopped a number of plants in the Lower Connellsville district, causing a loss of 17 merchant ovens, the Frick Coke Company actually increased their active equipment by 1,025 ovens. A week later, when the strike began to take a firmer hold, furnaces began to bank for lack of coke. Within another week only 30 of the 62 plants in running on April 1, with 5,938 ovens in blast, remained in commission. By the end of the month the ovens in actual use were but 36 per cent of those burning at the onset of the strike.

The low point of operation during the strike was reached during the week of May 6 when the active ovens had been reduced to 4,820 ovens, all of which except 994 were at furnace plants. In the following week the first gain on the strike was registered by the Frick company restoring 135 ovens made idle by the strike. In each of the succeeding weeks of the month still further additions were made, although the observance of Decoration Day made a sharp downward dip in the production curve. June witnessed more oven additions from week to week, the merchants making their first break in the strike when Aldia fired up 100 ovens in the week ended June 17. By the close of the month the Frick company had gained 1,652 ovens. Early July showed a noticeable improvement in the situation, more men having been taken on. Towards the close of the month the railroad began to have an adverse effect on coke resumption, inability to supply cars preventing as large increase in activity as men available would have made possible. A further break in the Lower Connellsville district came late in the month when Orient and Thompson No. 1 fired up a few ovens and Isabella subsequently joined with 80 in blast.

All through August the number of plants and ovens brought into production made consistent weekly gains, none of which lost any ground in the month passed. Plant efficiency rated higher and was within 10 or 15 per cent of that of the pre-strike period. September was ushered in with 81 per cent of plants and 68.8 per cent of ovens in blast on April 1 again active showing that the improvement in the situation had become substantial and permanent notwithstanding the anxiety that still continued with respect to the railroad situation, which had retarded coke resumption very materially.

The second week of September was made noteworthy by the reappearance of furnace buyers in the region seeking enough coke to put a few starks in blast, and the addition of five plants and 468 ovens to the active list. Car supply alone prevented a still nearer approach to the status existing before the strike.

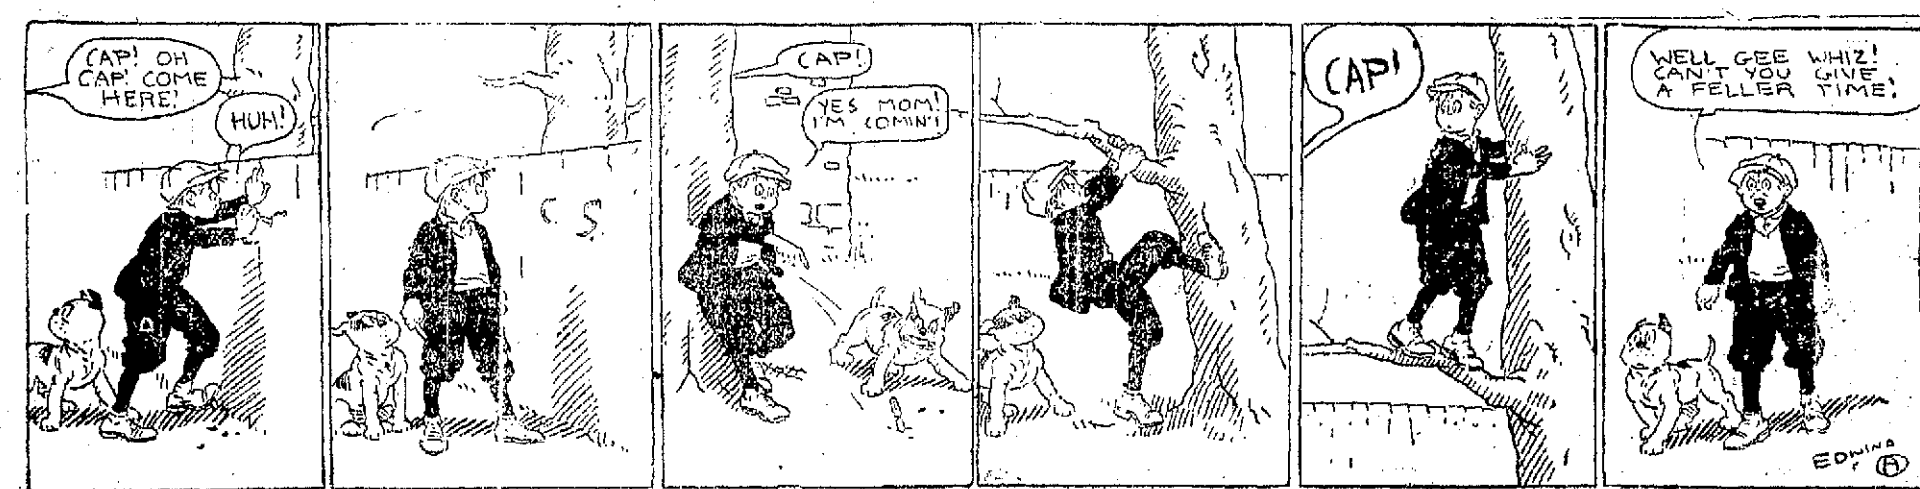

The merchant operators, now quite aggressive, took the lead in the resumption during the first week in October, W. J. Rainey, Inc., placing several plants in operation for the first time. In the second week the largest gains of a single week of the resumption period were made when 13 idle plants and 3,250 ovens were brought into production, followed in the next week by four plants and 558 ovens. Menusure shortage of cars continued to hamper more general resumption. In the last week of the month the ineptness of the strike, so far as related to operation, was completely thrown off, that week having shown that since the strike began 21 plants and 2,161 ovens had been re-

More to activity and production was 10,000 tons greater than it had been before the strike.

During November the progress continued, particularly at the merchant plants where 100, 200, 300 or more ovens were fired up from week to week and more coke made by this interest than had been produced in any week of the first three months of the year.

The first necessity for merchant operators to apply the brakes on production came in the first week of December when two furnaces, taking 30,000 tons of coke a month, went out of blast, unexpectedly for repairs.

With this tonnage thrown on the market production was in excess of requirements and a slowing down had to be ordered. This lasted but a week when an unexpected demand came from anthracite coal users for coke for domestic purposes which swept the region clear of coke and caused bidding for future production. With further increase in this demand more ovens and plants were fired up. Slight slowing down in car movement occurred in the pre-Christmas week due to lower temperature and there was the customary lay-off on Christmas day, but otherwise the last half of the month witnessed a very satisfactory close for a year which will prove to remain among the most successful in the history of the region.

The progress and the fluctuations in the coke trade of the Connellsville region, during the past 43 years, or since it assumed importance as an industry, are comprehensively shown in the following tabulation. This gives the total number of available ovens at the close of each year, the annual output, the average price per ton in the gross value, as compiled and published annually in The Courier since 1880.

CHIC NEW GLOVES

Ornamentation is Prominent on Latest Handovering.

Popular Lengths Are the Gauntlet, the Mousquetaire, and the Slip-on Models.

The simplicity of present-day clothes has had a strong bearing upon all sorts of dress accessories, particularly gloves. This does not mean that gloves have become simple, notes a fashion authority in the New York Tribune. On the contrary, they have taken unto themselves all the ornamentation and elaboration that formerly were appended to dresses and coats.

The popular glove lengths are the gauntlet, the mousquetaire and the slip-on models, the latter ranging from two-button style to elbow length. The vogue of the long, tight sleeve has brought about an unusual demand for the gauntlet.

Unnumerable models in kid, French suede and Arabian mocha are used for afternoon and evening, while for sports wear slip-ons made of chambray are popular.

The prevailing colors seen in dresses and coats are equally prominent in gloves. These include all the brown shades, particularly beaver, sand and fawn, as well as all the gray tones. Black kid is in unusual demand for all types of gloves, while white is seen principally in sixteen-button lengths.

Many smart combinations of black and white and also brown and tan are prevalent. Among the recent importations is a striking gauntlet of black kid having a cuff of white kid and carrying an applique design made of the black leather. There are gloves having cuffs that may be worn over the wrist or turned back over the hand.

Gloves of the pull-on variety frequently have cuffs that turn back over the hand, the turned-back portion being embroidered or lined in a contrasting color. In some instances velvet linings are used to add a touch of novelty. For instance, a deep purple lining may appear on white cuff, black on gray or brown on tan.

The gauntlet type of glove affords the greatest opportunity for elaboration. There are some models that button to one side, at which point there is an emblem motif. Others have cores of a contrasting shade set into the cuff.

THE VEIL ADDS TO BEAUTY

Color of Popular Accessory Helps to Emphasize the Best Points in Woman's Complexion.

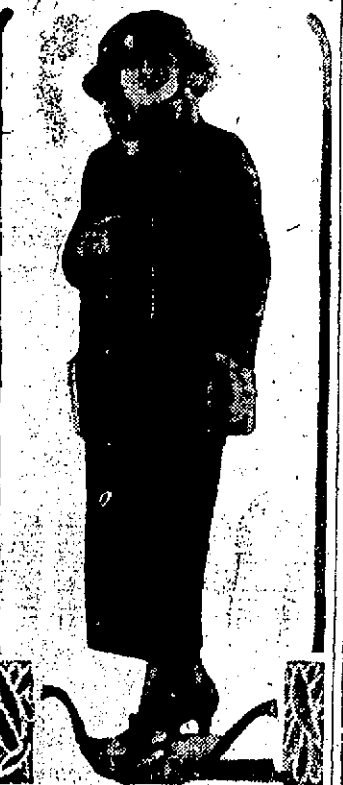

An important accessory in women's apparel is the veil, for its color can help to emphasize the best points in one's complexion, or to mar it utterly. For white or delicate complexion, black, red, light orange and light blue are good, but gray, yellow, green, violet and especially white are to be avoided.

For a red face or ruddy cheeks, veils of white, black or red are best, but yellow, orange, green and violet would not produce good results.

A woman with a moderately rosy complexion could wear a veil of black, white, red, rose and orange (unless the face is too pale), but could not appear advantageously in a yellow, gray, bluish gray or violet veil.

For a yellowish complexion, black, white, rose and eventually orange and blue veils are advisable, but red, yellow and greens are to be avoided.

Women with dark complexions could wear veils of black, red, white and rose colors, but they would not look well in gray, orange, yellow or violet.

THE SMART SUIT FOR MISSES

Brown ducaine and squirrel form the tender features of this charming outfit for young ladies who wish to be comfortably and fashionably dressed.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY COST LOSS 12,120 TONS PRODUCTION

Was Not Excessive in View of Rate of Operation and Earlier Records.

YEAR END ENCOURAGING

From The Harassments of Past Months, Coming Closely on the Great Depression of 1921, are taken into Account: Confidence in 1923.

From The Weekly Courier.

The observance of the Christmas holiday by the coke workers resulted in the decrease of 12,120 tons in production. This was not excessive in view of the recent weekly rate of operation, or as compared with the same holiday in earlier years, but at the current prices for spot coke it represents a very considerable sum to the operators who have been doing their utmost, or as much as the car situation will allow, to get out more coke each succeeding week.

The loss incident to the holiday rest cuts the regional tonnage down to 192,410, the smallest of the closing month of the year, but the weekly average for the month is still kept above 200,000 tons and in that respect December stands out as the month of largest production during 1922. That there was not a deeper cut into the output figures is in part due to the fact that the workers, among whom are many who endured a long idleness during the strike, were more concerned about keeping the pay envelope well filled than, in previous years when operation was without interruptions, they were very much habituated to having a good Christmas and a big time.

The plants of both interests were affected very much the same, a five-day run having been the rule of the region. At a few operations where car shortage is still a retarding influence the running time was even less.
The lay-off had one advantage, however, which was helpful in holding the production closer to the recent weekly average. Christmas coming on Monday two successive days were given the railroads in which to untangle the knots in car movement and to accumulate a better supply for the remaining five days of the week. This was shown by the average gaining 20 per cent over the preceding week.
And the holiday comes on a different day in the week, it is highly probable that the record would not have been so good.

What the year closed so satisfactorily in view of the harassments to which the trade was subjected, causes no little gratification among the operators as well as a feeling of confidence that 1923 will provide some compensation for the losses suffered by the strike, which followed so closely upon the long lean months of the Great Depression in 1921.

The estimated production of coke
during the week ended Saturday, December 30, was 192,410 tons, credited to the two districts as follows:
Connellsville, 116,640, a decrease of 1,199 tons; Lower Connellsville, 75,770, a decrease of 3,930 tons, or a combined decrease of 12,120 tons, as compared with a net decrease of 4,080 tons during the preceding week.

By interests the production was:
Furnace, 117,300 tons, a loss of 6,510 tons; merchant, 75,110, a loss of 5,610 tons; compared with a loss of 7,960 and a gain of 3,880 tons respectively during the week ended December 23.

There was a gain of 200 in the number of ovens in blast, seven at furnace and 197 at merchant plants. In detail the additions were as follows: Leith, six; Wyan, one; Adah, two; Century,
25; Herbert, 12; Hoover, 10; Huestead,
50; Mount Hope, 20; Rich Hill, 32;
Tower Hill No. 2, 25; Washington No.
1, nine.
